The Jaite Station and Freight House

Available in N Scale Craftsman or Standard Kit Versions, an HO Kit Version

These high quality laser kits are modeled after the Jaite Station and Freight House which were built along a branch of the B&O in the early part of the 20th century. They served the small company town of Jaite Mill and the Jaite Paper Mill which was Founded in 1905. Examples of the old company houses are in use today as part of the Cuyahoga Valley National Park. At its peak the mill employed 250 people. The mill, eventually abandoned, was destroyed by fire in 1992. The small station and freight house are in good repair and stand along tracks used by the Cuyahoga Valley Scenic Railroad.
